YOUTH DIRECTOR

Can you believe that there is less than two months left in 2018? To be honest, I didn't think October was ever going to end. You know— pumpkin month.

Sometimes people who move to Tucson from other states comment that we don't really have seasons, but I think we have great seasons at St. Mark's. They're just not, necessarily, related to weather.

Right now, our Confirmands are finishing up the segment on church history, our high school students are gearing up for SSP and Youth 2019, and the church staff is ready to launch into Advent. Those are great seasons. Embrace them. Let God know how excited you are to be part of His plan.

Blessings, Kim

Middle School Moments

Ahhh. November. It's finally cooling off enough to wear a hoodie in the morning. I love hoodies! It stays cool enough to ride my bike mid-day. This. Is. Awesome.

I have always loved that November is so focused on giving thanks. I love that you can almost guarantee that during this little piece of the year, most everybody I know is taking a moment to stop and say thank you.

Some thank yous are big, like getting over being sick. Some thank yous are little. (Last night, Norah thanked God for sour cream.) But every thank you is important! God hears all of our prayers- let's make sure He hears the prayers or gratitude too!

See you Sunday,
Rachel
